A comfortable and supportive place to stay, when you need it.

Sometimes you may need a temporary place to stay for a change of environment, while transitioning between living arrangements, or when your usual supports are temporarily unavailable.

Short-Term Accommodation

A short stay can provide you with an opportunity to experience a different environment, build everyday living skills, enjoy meaningful activities, and develop greater confidence and independence.

Depending on your individual support needs, we can assist with:

- Personal care and daily living support
- Meal preparation and household activities
- Community access and social activities
- Building independent living skills
- Maintaining your routines and personal goals
- Support during periods when your usual supports are unavailable

Medium-Term Accommodation

Medium Term Accommodation provides temporary accommodation when you need somewhere suitable to live while waiting for your confirmed long-term home to become available.

We support you throughout this transition, helping you maintain your routines, independence, and connection with your community while you prepare for your next home.

We want every stay to feel safe, comfortable, and meaningful. Our team works with you to understand how you like to live and the support you need, so you can continue making your own choices and doing the things that matter to you.
